UINTAH

Oil Tech Inc. has been fined $30,000 for trespassing on state trust lands when it set up a facility to extract oil from an oil shale east of Bonanza in southeastern Uintah County.

The company must also pay $10,000 a year to lease the one acre parcel the facility sits on.

To stay on the property, the company must obtain proper permits from the state and federal governments and a conditional use permit from the county.

WASATCH

Two natural-gas-powered generators have been delivered to Heber Light and Power's Ray Farrell Power Plant to replace two diesel generators.

The new units, which cost $750,000 each, will generate four megawatts of power.

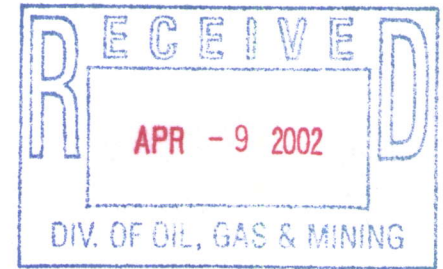

The power company expects cleaner emissions and increased efficiency from the new//O/ generators. The units will pay for themselves in savings within six months. /3 1 unty.

WEBER

The Business Depot Ogden has been honored by the Utah Water Conservation Forum for the water-saving designs it has used on roads in the business park.

Those features include 10-foot wide parking strips and a 14-foot wide median on Depot Drive that is planted with shrubs and perennials that need little water.

The watering of plants by drip irrigation in the depot is controlled for maximum efficiency by using information from the depot's weather station.
